

VVM352

KEYHOLE PROTECTION KIT

The keyhole protection kit with its strong steel lever is used to protect safes and strongroom doors with exposed keyholes.

It can be wired to inhibit the arming of the system while the lever is in day position, thus making it impossible for staff to forget to remove keys. In night position the lever will cover the keyhole and thereby stop intruder from inserting explosives or stolen keys in the keyhole.

Details

- Protects safes and strongrooms with exposed keyholes

VVM352

KEYHOLE PROTECTION KIT

Technical specifications

General

Application type	Accessory
------------------	-----------

As a company of innovation, Carrier Fire & Security reserves the right to change product specifications without notice. For the latest product specifications, visit firesecurityproducts.com online or contact your sales representative.

Last updated on 23 July 2021 - 10:20